

THOUSANDS STRIKE IN EASTERN SHIPYARDS

PRESIDENT WILSON WILL TAKE A HAND IN ATTEMPT TO GET THE MEN TO GO BACK TO THEIR PLACES

GOVERNMENT IGNORED DEMANDS

New York, Feb. 16.—As fast as the men can be called from their work by agents of the Marine Workers Union, ship yards in the district of the port of New York are being denuded of their workers.

Forty ship yards were effected by ten o'clock this morning according to John Stuart, Secretary of the Union Between 6,000 and 7,000 men have laid down their tools. The men, according to Stuart asked only that the government give consideration to their demands made some time ago. These have been ignored so long they decided that the only way to get action was to strike. Stuart expressed the belief that when the government seems willing to accede to their demands the men will return to work. There are about seventy ship yards of all sizes in this district. All are working on government contracts and the strike will hold up work on many ships.

Shipping Board can adjust matters. Appeals to Chairman Hurley and others have proven of no avail and it is agreed that the solution can be remedied by the President alone. There will be no conscription of labor at this time, it was learned definitely today.

Threats that the wood workers would be joined in 48 hours by 60,000 to 100,000 iron workers was met with unconcern by shipping board heads. The strike came as if from a clear sky. The iron workers will await the decision of the Baltimore iron workers. The Baltimore workers have assured the government that they will not strike. The strikers declare that the Shipping Board would not live up to its agreement of an unconditional closed shop. The Shipping Board, according to Wm. Blackman, chief of the labor adjustment division, agreed to several things, principal of which was the closed shop demands.

Washington, Feb. 16.—As the walk out of the wood workers in the eastern ship yards grew rapidly today President Wilson prepared a definite proposition to the workers. The President is expected to appeal to the loyalty of the men in getting them back to work until such time as the Washington, Feb. 16.—The ship yard strikers will be drafted into the army if they do not return to work, officials of the Provost Marshal General's office declared today. Many men of Class No. 1 were given deferred classification in order that they might work in the ship yards.

UNDER THE CAMOUFLAGE

Intimate War Experiences and Observations of LOWELL MELLETT

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, Dec. 19.—First fog of the season today. There have been foggy days, but they don't call it a fog here when you can see the light in your pipe. Today they called it a fog.

Called on General Maurice. He explained some of the differences between offensive and defensive warfare, in anticipation of a change to the latter on the Western front.

"The public is apt to believe," said the general "when the enemy gains a bit of ground that we don't give out complete information. The plain fact is that on the defensive you usually don't know what you've lost, if you lose anything. When you attack you have your eyes ready and an officer to count the prisoners as fast as they are shovelled in."

"Prisoners usually are lost from the front lines, where attention is pretty well occupied and there is no time for calling the roll to find out who is missing. In the confusion of fighting, too, men become separated from their companies and it usually takes some days to learn who is missing and who is dead."

The fog had not lifted when we left the war office. In fact it was a bit thicker. Crossing Whitehall to the Admiralty was something of an adventure. It was like swimming under water in a stream infested with submarines, some going upstream and some down; most confusing.

Commander Walcott at the admiralty, a keen, far-sighted officer, foresaw for our benefit the finish of the German submarine campaign. The commander isn't exactly an optimist; his analysis of the situation showed rather a well-reasoned confidence. He can't give the date when he expects the submarine effort to end—because he didn't not because it was giving information to the enemy. But when it does end will ask him if he had the right date in mind. "Think he'll tell me because he's always been honest about everything else."

Leaving the Admiralty you couldn't see the hand at the end of your arm. (That's the customary phrase in fog days.) By hugging a picket fence most of the way we reached the Foreign Office safely. All except Morris. Morris is perfectly at home in a fog and he struck out into the very midst of it making a short cut across the Horseguards Parade.

At the Foreign Office, Roseburgh, authority on international affairs had progressed alphabetically through Albania, Budapest, Constantinople and so following to Petrograd, when Morris arrived. He had not only got lost in the fog, but had fallen down in the mud of Horseguards Parade.

The day was not without profit; learned that a fence beats a parade ground in a fog.

London, Dec. 20.—The Mother of Parliaments is a good deal like her children, or leastwise the resemblance is very marked in the case of one husky child, the U. S. Congress. Came to this profound conclusion today after listening to the proceedings at Westminster for some hours. The occasion was the Prime Minister's appearance on the eve of Christmas adjournment to discuss the state of the war on land and sea.

Most of the speeches that preceded that of Lloyd George bore on what members hoped he would say, most of those following his had to do with what he had said or left unsaid.

First speaker was the member for East Glamorganshire, Mr. Edwards. Among the things he hoped the Prime Minister would announce was the coming-out of about 200,000 single men from the coalfields for the army, some hundreds of thousands from munition plants and generally "a ruthless re-examination of the badges of exemption." Also he desired "a definite and encouraging statement as to that reservoir of 250,000 men in Ireland."

Sir J. D. Rees, whom other members are required by Parliamentary etiquette to address as "the Noble Lord the member for South Nottingham," echoed the sentiment regarding Ireland but not in a word for one-man business concern among his Nottingham constituents. In conclusion he protested against asking for a definition of war aims "as deplorable and unpatriotic."

Soon following him, however, was Major David Davies with a very explicit demand for such a definition. First he suggested the Premier should take the House into his confidence officer. "It's all very well," he said "to make speeches to the Benchers at Gray's Inn, who may be a less critical audience than the Members of this House, but I certainly think he would give more confidence to the country if he came here oftener and gave us authoritative statements

BREWERS CANNOT BUY BARLEY FOR BREWING BEERS

County Food Administrator John F. Short received the following telegram from State Food Administrator Heinz this morning:

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 16.

United States Food Administrator has today sent the following wire to all malsters:

You are directed, until rules governing malsters are issued, to cease all purchase of barley and other grains for malting. Food Administrator estimates malsters have on hand sufficient supply of barley and other grains to last from three to six months. Detailed rules governing purchase and holding of grain by malsters will be issued shortly. In the meantime, purchases are entirely forbidden, in order to insure greater supply of cereals which may be substituted for wheat. Please give this immediate and wide publicity.

HEINZ.

County Administrator Short met the merchants of DuBois in that city last evening and appointed James H. Pifer as his representative in that section. Mr. Pifer will look after food matters in DuBois, Sandy, Brady, Troutville, Huston and Union townships.

MRS. PHILLIPS ENTERTAINS

The members of the Busy Bee Sewing circle and a few invited friends to the number of twenty-five were entertained at the home of Mrs. W. E. Phillips Thursday afternoon from 2 until 6 o'clock.

This circle is doing its bit to help win the war. They have knit 18 army sweaters, 21 pair wristlets, 7 pair socks, 8 scarfs, 1 helmet and have made 6 hospital shirts and 12 comfort bags. They have also decided to contribute a small sum at each meeting for a limited time to be given to the Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus war fund later. The proceeds from the last two meetings held at the home of Mrs. J. E. Phillips two weeks ago and Thursday's meeting was $3.90. Immediately after the favors were given which were little flags, Miss Helen Phillips played the Star Spangled Banner on the piano and the guests responded by rising after which the hostess served an excellent lunch.

EVANGELISTIC CAMPAIGN

The Collins-Wissinger party that has just closed a successful evangelistic union meeting in East Clearfield, will put on a campaign in the West Side M. E. Church, beginning Sunday Feb. 24. The meeting will be held in the Methodist church, Rev. J. J. Resh pastor. Dr. Collins is pastor of the Eleventh Street church and Rev. Wissinger is pastor of the United Brethren church in Fourth Ward.

as regards the policy of the government." He vigorously criticized Balfour's speech of the day before, saying the Foreign Office failed to realize "that the world is now being permeated by new ideas which are totally at variance with some of the prehistoric views held in the Foreign Office. Commander Wedgewood interpolated:

"And of the governing classes." "And, as my Honorable and Gallant Friend says, of the governing classes," continued Major Davies.

Following him there came a perfect torrent of speech from a seat beneath the balcony where I sat. I couldn't see the speaker, but the evening papers note the fact that Mr. Stanton, member for Merthyr, broke all speed records, speaking 3100 words in the course of fifteen minutes. It must have been Stanton. What he wanted the Prime Minister to do, he said, was "to get more of the young men who are shirking around the mines or in other industries into the army." His peroration was:

Many speeches followed. Mr. Asquith's speech like the Prime Minister has been fully reported. Mr. Adamson, chairman of the labor party members, addressing the prime minister directly said:

"If you imagine that you are going to go on making call after call for men without some definite and distinct arrangement as to the conscription of wealth then you will find you are up against a very difficult proposition."

KNIT SOCKS

It is quite important that a large quantity of socks for soldiers be knit in Clearfield before February 28. The time is short and every woman who can spare a minute of time is requested to start to work at once. Yarn can be procured from Mrs. Richard Gilbert on Turnpike avenue. This is an emergency call. Call Mrs. Gilbert at once.

ENOUGH TROOPS FOR OFFENSIVE ON BIG FRONT

With a Half Million Men General Pershing Can Force An Offensive On Twenty Mile Front

25,000 MEN TO THE MILE

By J. W. T. Mason

(Written for United Press)
New York Feb. 16.—Secretary Baker's announcement that the United States will soon have half a million troops in France, means that General Pershing will be able to conduct offensive operations on a front of twenty miles, which is approximately the maximum desired in trench operations.

A properly conducted offensive requires the use of six thousand troops per mile, for the first series of forward movements. A major advance along a front of twenty miles should necessitate an army of 120,000 men, with more in reserve. General Pershing could undertake operations of this magnitude if he had five hundred thousand men under him, and allow at the same time for the adequate holding of the trenches on both sides of the offensive area, with a strong reserve force to make good casualties.

After the first half million Americans get into action, it is not probable that those actually engaged in fighting will exceed that number for at least a year. The newcomers will be used to fill up depleted ranks, and to act as reserves. France has not more than two million men actually in the trenches and this number can be accepted as the probable maximum of her present fighting strength. For America to send an army across the Atlantic equal to twenty-five per cent. of the French forces and keep that army up to its full strength would be one of the most remarkable attainments in military history.

At the same time, it will be necessary for America's half million to cooperate intimately with the French forces in the sectors near the American zone if the chances of full victory are not to be thrown away. In Lorraine, opposite the American trenches the German general staff is concentrating a new army to oppose the Americans.

Germany had not more than one thousand men to the mile along the Lorraine front previous to the arrival of General Pershing in France. Since then Von Hindenburg has given deep attention to the problem of defending German soil against an American offensive. For this reason, there must be intimate Franco-American cooperation, despite General Pershing's ability to take the initiative alone. A sustained offensive is necessary to wear down Germany's new forces in Lorraine, and that is possible only if French and American troops work together.

ROUMANIA OFFENDED BY OUR PRESIDENT

By W. S. Forrest

Paris, Feb. 16.—Roumania is badly disappointed because of President Wilson's failure to mention her in his last message to the world. I learned of excellent authority today. It is declared that Roumania could be of the greatest importance in fighting the menace at this critical juncture. The country's morale is one of the best and the army is one of the most important fighting forces.

U-BOAT BOMBARDS CITY OF DOVER: KILL CHILD

(By United Press)
London, Feb. 16.—An enemy submarine bombarded Dover this morning, killing one child and injuring three men and women and three children, Lord French of the Home Defense announced today.

The u-boat attack on Dover occurred at one o'clock. The bombardment lasted only three or four minutes in which time about 30 shells were fired. Several houses were slightly damaged. The submarine attack came about 24 hours after a German destroyer raid on British submarine patrols in the straits of Dover, which resulted in the sinking of a trawler and seven "drifters". The submarines are believed to have operated from a German naval base off the Belgian coast.

AMERICANS IN FRANCE LOCATED NEAR THE CITY OF TOUL: CLOSE TO ENEMY

(By United Press)
By J. W. Pegler

With The American Army in France, Feb. 15. (Delayed.)—The American sector at Mont Sez looms like a hut on the horizon. It lies near the city of Toul, it is permissible to announce today. Mont Sez is dotted with enemy machine gun nests and observation posts. The Sammies have already named it "Gibraltar," but a Pittsburgh lad used Bob Fitzsimmons' famous saying, "The bigger they are the harder they fall." Mont Sez is a short distance from the enemy's lines and affords observation of the territory like a sausage balloon.

JURORS EXCUSED FROM DUTY

In the Court of Common Pleas of Clearfield county, Pennsylvania. In re sessions of Court for week beginning February 19th 1918. Now, February 15th, 1918, no cases remaining for trial for the week beginning February 18, 1918, except Laubenbaugh vs Antis set for trial on February 20th, this case has been continued by the Court, it appearing to the Court that it would be unwise to incur either the public expense or the private inconvenience of bringing the jury here for the trial of one case, especially when it cannot be tried until Wednesday.

And, now, February 15th, 1918, it is ordered that all jurors summoned for service for the week beginning February 18th 1918 are excused from service, and the Prothonotary and Sheriff are directed to notify the said jurors as far as the same can be done that they are not to attend Court during said week.

A FOOLISH PASTIME

Hours and hours of time have been wasted recently by those who have nothing more to do than debate on the possible duration of the war. No man or set of men living can foretell the day or month on which the great war will end and if all the effort being expended on this foolish pastime was directed into channels of production and transportation of products, Messrs. McAdeco and Hoover would have an easier time of it.

MORE SHEEP ARE BEING RAISED IN PENNSYLVANIA

An actual increase in the value of the sheep industry of the state of over double what it was, with less sheep, three years ago is shown by figures just announced by the bureau of statistics of Pennsylvania department of agriculture. It is one of the arguments among the many presented to the farmers of the state for a greater interest in sheep breeding. The figures show that in January, 1916 there were 794,712 sheep in the state and they were valued at $5,400 a head or $4,352,400. This year the estimates show 820,765 sheep on the farms in the state with an average value of $10.65 each or a total of $8,747,215. Secretary of Agriculture Charles E. Patton has been urging farmers to take more interest in sheep raising for the past two years and a gradual increase in the number of sheep gives hopes that the million mark may soon be reached.

What is true of the sheep situation is almost as true of the swine industry where the value has jumped from $11.80 a head in 1916 to $18.50 each this year. But there has been a gradual decline in the number of swine, there being 1,173,156 in 1916, 1,126,125 in 1917 and 1,068,333 this year.

The following tables show the change in the sheep and swine industry during the past three years, giving the total number, average price and total value:

	Sheep		Swine
1916	794,712	$ 5.40	$4,352,400
1917	803,402	7.00	5,670,000
1918	820,765	10.65	8,747,215
1916	1,173,156	$11.80	$13,874,800
1917	1,126,125	12.90	14,841,500
1918	1,068,333	18.50	19,766,751

Cute Little Dresses For The Tots

They are just as cute and dainty as they can be. Made of gingham and percales in both the long and short waisted patterns. Some have the little belted effect. Most of them have the lace front and all are prettily trimmed with a material of harmonizing color.

They are really cheaper than you could get the material and take the time to make them as the cost of material goes today. We have them in sizes from 2 to 6 years and the colors range in blue, tan and mixed stripes and some plaids.

Monday Night Closing As A War Measure

Garfield Has Rescinded The Monday Closing Order. We're Going To Voluntarily Aid Uncle Sammy To Save Coal. Arrange Your Shopping To Meet War Conditions.

In order that we may aid the government in its coal conservation movement we have decided to close our stores on Monday Evenings at 6 o'clock until further notice.

This is in keeping with other win-the-war movements that are being inaugurated the country over and we know that our patrons and friends will aid us in the measure. By closing at 6 P. M. we save light and heat which in turn saves coal. Every ton of coal saved in the mining region means a ton of coal for some munition plant that may be handicapped for fuel.

We have been so lightly touched by this war; we have felt none of its rigors; our city has gone on in the even tenor of its way and thus we feel that in this movement every man, woman and child in Clearfield will co-operate with us and do your shopping in the daytime.

PRESIDENT WILSON WILL TAKE A HAND IN ATTEMPT TO GET THE MEN TO GO BACK TO THEIR PLACES

GOVERNMENT IGNORED DEMANDS

New York, Feb. 16.—As fast as the men can be called from their work by agents of the Marine Workers Union, ship yards in the district of the port of New York are being denuded of their workers.

Forty ship yards were effected by ten o'clock this morning according to John Stuart, Secretary of the Union Between 6,000 and 7,000 men have laid down their tools. The men, according to Stuart asked only that the government give consideration to their demands made some time ago. These have been ignored so long they decided that the only way to get action was to strike. Stuart expressed the belief that when the government seems willing to accede to their demands the men will return to work. There are about seventy ship yards of all sizes in this district. All are working on government contracts and the strike will hold up work on many ships.

Shipping Board can adjust matters. Appeals to Chairman Hurley and others have proven of no avail and it is agreed that the solution can be remedied by the President alone. There will be no conscription of labor at this time, it was learned definitely today.

Threats that the wood workers would be joined in 48 hours by 60,000 to 100,000 iron workers was met with unconcern by shipping board heads. The strike came as if from a clear sky. The iron workers will await the decision of the Baltimore iron workers. The Baltimore workers have assured the government that they will not strike. The strikers declare that the Shipping Board would not live up to its agreement of an unconditional closed shop. The Shipping Board, according to Wm. Blackman, chief of the labor adjustment division, agreed to several things, principal of which was the closed shop demands.

Washington, Feb. 16.—As the walk out of the wood workers in the eastern ship yards grew rapidly today President Wilson prepared a definite proposition to the workers. The President is expected to appeal to the loyalty of the men in getting them back to work until such time as the Washington, Feb. 16.—The ship yard strikers will be drafted into the army if they do not return to work, officials of the Provost Marshal General's office declared today. Many men of Class No. 1 were given deferred classification in order that they might work in the ship yards.

UNDER THE CAMOUFLAGE

Intimate War Experiences and Observations of LOWELL MELLETT

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, Dec. 19.—First fog of the season today. There have been foggy days, but they don't call it a fog here when you can see the light in your pipe. Today they called it a fog.

Called on General Maurice. He explained some of the differences between offensive and defensive warfare, in anticipation of a change to the latter on the Western front.

"The public is apt to believe," said the general "when the enemy gains a bit of ground that we don't give out complete information. The plain fact is that on the defensive you usually don't know what you've lost, if you lose anything. When you attack you have your eyes ready and an officer to count the prisoners as fast as they are shovelled in."

"Prisoners usually are lost from the front lines, where attention is pretty well occupied and there is no time for calling the roll to find out who is missing. In the confusion of fighting, too, men become separated from their companies and it usually takes some days to learn who is missing and who is dead."

The fog had not lifted when we left the war office. In fact it was a bit thicker. Crossing Whitehall to the Admiralty was something of an adventure. It was like swimming under water in a stream infested with submarines, some going upstream and some down; most confusing.

Commander Walcott at the admiralty, a keen, far-sighted officer, foresaw for our benefit the finish of the German submarine campaign. The commander isn't exactly an optimist; his analysis of the situation showed rather a well-reasoned confidence. He can't give the date when he expects the submarine effort to end—because he didn't not because it was giving information to the enemy. But when it does end will ask him if he had the right date in mind. "Think he'll tell me because he's always been honest about everything else."

Leaving the Admiralty you couldn't see the hand at the end of your arm. (That's the customary phrase in fog days.) By hugging a picket fence most of the way we reached the Foreign Office safely. All except Morris. Morris is perfectly at home in a fog and he struck out into the very midst of it making a short cut across the Horseguards Parade.

authority on international affairs had progressed alphabetically through Albania, Budapest, Constantinople and so following to Petrograd, when Morris arrived. He had not only got lost in the fog, but had fallen down in the mud of Horseguards Parade.

The day was not without profit; learned that a fence beats a parade ground in a fog.

London, Dec. 20.—The Mother of Parliaments is a good deal like her children, or leastwise the resemblance is very marked in the case of one husky child, the U. S. Congress. Came to this profound conclusion today after listening to the proceedings at Westminster for some hours. The occasion was the Prime Minister's appearance on the eve of Christmas adjournment to discuss the state of the war on land and sea.

Most of the speeches that preceded that of Lloyd George bore on what members hoped he would say, most of those following his had to do with what he had said or left unsaid.

First speaker was the member for East Glamorganshire, Mr. Edwards. Among the things he hoped the Prime Minister would announce was the coming-out of about 200,000 single men from the coalfields for the army, some hundreds of thousands from munition plants and generally "a ruthless re-examination of the badges of exemption." Also he desired "a definite and encouraging statement as to that reservoir of 250,000 men in Ireland."

Sir J. D. Rees, whom other members are required by Parliamentary etiquette to address as "the Noble Lord the member for South Nottingham," echoed the sentiment regarding Ireland but not in a word for one-man business concern among his Nottingham constituents. In conclusion he protested against asking for a definition of war aims "as deplorable and unpatriotic."

Soon following him, however, was Major David Davies with a very explicit demand for such a definition. First he suggested the Premier should take the House into his confidence officer. "It's all very well," he said "to make speeches to the Benchers at Gray's Inn, who may be a less critical audience than the Members of this House, but I certainly think he would give more confidence to the country if he came here oftener and gave us authoritative statements

County Food Administrator John F. Short received the following telegram from State Food Administrator Heinz this morning:

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 16.

United States Food Administrator has today sent the following wire to all malters:

You are directed, until rules governing malters are issued, to cease all purchase of barley and other grains for malting. Food Administrator estimates malters have on hand sufficient supply of barley and other grains to last from three to six months. Detailed rules governing purchase and holding of grain by malters will be issued shortly. In the meantime, purchases are entirely forbidden, in order to insure greater supply of cereals which may be substituted for wheat. Please give this immediate and wide publicity.

HEINZ.

County Administrator Short met the merchants of DuBois in that city last evening and appointed James H. Pifer as his representative in that section. Mr. Pifer will look after food matters in DuBois, Sandy, Brady, Troutville, Huston and Union townships.

MRS. PHILLIPS ENTERTAINS

The members of the Busy Bee Sewing circle and a few invited friends to the number of twenty-five were entertained at the home of Mrs. W. E. Phillips Thursday afternoon from 2 until 6 o'clock.

This circle is doing its bit to help win the war. They have knit 18 army sweaters, 21 pair wristlets, 7 pair socks, 8 scarfs, 1 helmet and have made 6 hospital shirts and 12 comfort bags. They have also decided to contribute a small sum at each meeting for a limited time to be given to the Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus war fund later. The proceeds from the last two meetings held at the home of Mrs. J. E. Phillips two weeks ago and Thursday's meeting was $3.90. Immediately after the favors were given which were little flags, Miss Helen Phillips played the Star Spangled Banner on the piano and the guests responded by rising after which the hostess served an excellent lunch.

EVANGELISTIC CAMPAIGN

The Collins-Wissinger party that has just closed a successful evangelistic union meeting in East Clearfield, will put on a campaign in the West Side M. E. Church, beginning Sunday Feb. 24. The meeting will be held in the Methodist church, Rev. J. J. Resh pastor. Dr. Collins is pastor of the Eleventh Street church and Rev. Wissinger is pastor of the United Brethren church in Fourth Ward.

as regards the policy of the government." He vigorously criticized Balfour's speech of the day before, saying the Foreign Office failed to realize "that the world is now being permeated by new ideas which are totally at variance with some of the prehistoric views held in the Foreign Office. Commander Wedgewood interpolated:

"And of the governing classes." "And, as my Honorable and Gallant Friend says, of the governing classes," continued Major Davies.

Following him there came a perfect torrent of speech from a seat beneath the balcony where I sat. I couldn't see the speaker, but the evening papers note the fact that Mr. Stanton, member for Merthyr, broke all speed records, speaking 3100 words in the course of fifteen minutes. It must have been Stanton. What he wanted the Prime Minister to do, he said, was "to get more of the young men who are shirking around the mines or in other industries into the army." His peroration was:

Many speakers followed. Mr. Asquith's speech like the Prime Minister has been fully reported. Mr. Adamson, chairman of the labor party members, addressing the prime minister directly said:

"If you imagine that you are going to go on making call after call for men without some definite and distinct arrangement as to the conscription of wealth then you will find you are up against a very difficult proposition."

KNIT SOCKS

It is quite important that a large quantity of socks for soldiers be knit in Clearfield before February 28. The time is short and every woman who can spare a minute of time is requested to start to work at once. Yarn can be procured from Mrs. Richard Gilbert on Turnpike avenue. This is an emergency call. Call Mrs. Gilbert at once.

ENOUGH TROOPS FOR OFFENSIVE ON BIG FRONT

With a Half Million Men General Pershing Can Force An Offensive On Twenty Mile Front

25,000 MEN TO THE MILE

By J. W. T. Mason
(Written for United Press)

New York Feb. 16.—Secretary Baker's announcement that the United States will soon have half a million troops in France, means that General Pershing will be able to conduct offensive operations on a front of twenty miles, which is approximately the maximum desired in trench operations.

A properly conducted offensive requires the use of six thousand troops per mile, for the first series of forward movements. A major advance along a front of twenty miles should necessitate an army of 120,000 men, with more in reserve. General Pershing could undertake operations of this magnitude if he had five hundred thousand men under him, and allow at the same time for the adequate holding of the trenches on both sides of the offensive area, with a strong reserve force to make good casualties.

After the first half million Americans get into action, it is not probable that those actually engaged in fighting will exceed that number for at least a year. The newcomers will be used to fill up depleted ranks, and to act as reserves. France has not more than two million men actually in the trenches and this number can be accepted as the probable maximum of her present fighting strength. For America to send an army across the Atlantic equal to twenty-five per cent. of the French forces and keep that army up to its full strength would be one of the most remarkable attainments in military history.

At the same time, it will be necessary for America's half million to cooperate intimately with the French forces in the sectors near the American zone if the chances of full victory are not to be thrown away. In Lorraine, opposite the American trenches the German general staff is concentrating a new army to oppose the Americans.

Germany had not more than one thousand men to the mile along the Lorraine front previous to the arrival of General Pershing in France. Since then Von Hindenburg has given deep attention to the problem of defending German soil against an American offensive. For this reason, there must be intimate Franco-American cooperation, despite General Pershing's ability to take the initiative alone. A sustained offensive is necessary to wear down Germany's new forces in Lorraine, and that is possible only if French and American troops work together.

ROUMANIA OFFENDED BY OUR PRESIDENT

By W. S. Forrest

Paris, Feb. 16.—Roumania is badly disappointed because of President Wilson's failure to mention her in his last message to the world. I learned of excellent authority today. It is declared that Roumania could be of the greatest importance in fighting the menace at this critical juncture. The country's morale is of the best and the army is of important combatant force.

U-BOAT BOMBARDS CITY OF DOVER. KILL CHILD

(By United Press)
London, Feb. 16.—An enemy submarine bombarded Dover this morning, killing one child and injuring three men and women and three children, Lord French of the Home Defense announced today.

The u-boat attack on Dover occurred at one o'clock. The bombardment lasted only three or four minutes in which time about 30 shells were fired. Several houses were slightly damaged. The submarine attack came about 24 hours after a German destroyer raid on British submarine patrols in the straits of Dover, which resulted in the sinking of a trawler and seven "drifters". The submarines are believed to have operated from a German naval base off the Belgian coast.

AMERICANS IN FRANCE LOCATED NEAR THE CITY OF TOUL: CLOSE TO ENEMY

(By United Press)
By J. W. Pegler

With The merican Army in France, Feb. 15. (Delayed.)—The American sector at Mont Sez looms like a hut on the horizon. It lies near the city of Toul, it is permissible to announce today. Mont Sez is dotted with enemy machine gun nests and observation posts. The Sammies have already named it "Gibraltar," but a Pittsburgh lad used Bob Fitzsimmons' famous saying, "The bigger they are the harder they fall." Mont Sez is a short distance from the enemy's lines and affords observation of the territory like a sausage balloon.

HYMN: "AMERICAN IN 1917."

(Recommended by the Committee of Public Safety of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania.)

God of all worlds, to Thee, Spirit of unity, To Thee we pray. Grant us the vision clear, Save us from hate and fear, Help us Thy word to hear; Thine be "The Day!"

Peace and on earth good will! In this quest we still Face Martyrdom.

If we must die to save This is the reward we crave Victory beyond the grave! Thy Kingdom come!

Let us go forth to fight, Our faces toward the light, Our flag unfurled. Not for ourselves alone, Not to save state or throne, But to give Thee thine own; God save the world!

JURORS EXCUSED FROM DUTY

In the Court of Common Pleas of Clearfield county, Pennsylvania. In re sessions of Court for week beginning February 19th 1918.

Now, February 15th, 1918, no cases remaining for trial for the week beginning February 18, 1918, except Laubenbaugh vs Antis set for trial on February 20th, this case has been continued by the Court, it appearing to the Court that it would be unwise to incur either the public expense or the private inconvenience of bringing the jury here for the trial of one case, especially when it cannot be tried until Wednesday.

And, now, February 15th, 1918, it is ordered that all jurors summoned for service for the week beginning February 18th 1918 are excused from service, and the Prothonotary and Sheriff are directed to notify the said jurors as far as the same can be done that they are not to attend Court during said week.

A FOOLISH PASTIME

Hours and hours of time have been wasted recently by those who have nothing more to do than debate on the possible duration of the war. No man or set of men living can foretell the day or month on which the great war will end and if all the effort being expended on this foolish pastime was directed into channels of production and transportation of products, Messrs. McAdeo and Hoover would have an easier time of it.

THE PEOPLE OF CLEARFIELD SHOULD HEARTILY ENDORSE MONDAY CLOSING

An actual increase in the value of the sheep industry of the state of over double what it was, with less sheep, three years ago is shown by figures just announced by the bureau of statistics of Pennsylvania department of agriculture. It is one of the arguments among the many presented to the farmers of the state for a greater interest in sheep breeding. The figures show that in January, 1916 there were 794,712 sheep in the state and they were valued at $5,400 a head or $4,352,400. This year the estimates show 820,765 sheep on the farms in the state with an average value of $10.65 each or a total of $8,747,215. Secretary of Agriculture Charles E. Patton has been urging farmers to take more interest in sheep raising for the past two years and a gradual increase in the number of sheep gives hopes that the million mark may soon be reached.

What is true of the sheep situation is almost as true of the swine industry where the value has jumped from $11.80 a head in 1916 to $18.50 each this year. But there has been a gradual decline in the number of swine, there being 1,173,156 in 1916, 1,126,125 in 1917 and 1,068,333 this year.

The following tables show the change in the sheep and swine industry during the past three years, giving the total number, average price and total value:

	Sheep		Swine
1916	794,712	$ 5.40	$4,352,400
1917	803,402	7.00	5,670,000
1918	820,765	10.65	8,747,215
1916	1,173,156	$11.80	$13,874,800
1917	1,126,125	12.90	14,841,500
1918	1,068,333	18.50	19,766,751

The clerks in the Clearfield stores held a meeting in the borough building on Thursday evening last at which a temporary organization was formed and committees appointed with the idea in mind of making the organization a permanent one.

The clerks are organizing for mutual protection and for the purpose of securing better working conditions and hours if possible. The action taken is in keeping with the recent action of the Merchants' Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce. The merchants decided that it would be highly patriotic and in the interest of fuel conservation to close the stores and business places of the town every evening except Saturday and have already gone on record in this matter. The clerks appreciating the efforts of their employers are joining heartily in the movement and their organization will be charged with the duty of maintaining this patriotic movement. Every merchant should patriotically acquiesce in the action of the Merchants' Association, whether members of same or not, and the Clerks' Association will endeavor to enlist the aid of the people of the town in seeing that this patriotic closing movement is obeyed by every store in the town.

The total number of sheep and swine in some of the counties of the state is as follows:
Clinton, 1,324, 6,696; Cameron, 507, 437; Centre, 10,186, 20, 431; Clearfield, 4,079, 12,027; Elk, 406, 3,215; Lycoming, 6,386, 21,106; Potter, 11,368, 5,580.

COURT NOTES

John A. Stock, administrator of the estate of Michael Ignatz Hunady, late of Cooper township, through his attorneys, Smith & Smith, has brought suit against Mrs. Annie Koval, of Meritt township for the recovery of a sum of money said to amount to several hundred dollars.

The plaintiff's statement alleges that Mrs. Koval collected a judgment against Hunady two different times and the suit is brought for the purpose of recovering the exact payment.

Mrs. Beanie Myers filed a petition in the Prothonotary's office Friday in which she asks for a divorce from her husband, Robert R. Myers. She says they were married April 23, 1913, and that the husband deserted her Aug. 10, 1914.

Miles Anthony, through his attorneys Miller & Hartwick, filed a suit in the Prothonotary's office Friday in which he sues to recover $305 for merchandise sold to the Ivona Trading Company.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

ENTERTAINS SEWING CLUB

Mrs. Carrie Buchanan entertained the ladies of the Priscilla Sewing Club at her home on Third street last evening. The evening was delightfully spent in social intercourse and knitting. At a late hour the hostess served an elegant lunch.

VALENTINE PARTY

Mrs. C. G. Johnson entertained a crowd of young people at a valentine party Thursday evening at her home on Nichol street in honor of her son Orvis.

Dancing, games and music furnished enjoyable entertainment for the guests until a late hour when lovely refreshments were served.

A RAW, SORE THROAT

Eases Quickly When You Apply a Little Musterole.

And Musterole won't blister like the old-fashioned mustard plaster. It penetrates to the sore spot with a gentle tingle, loosens the congestion and draws out the soreness and pain. Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. It is fine for quick relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet, colds on the chest or often prevents pneumonia. Nothing like Musterole for croupy children. Keep it handy for instant use. 30c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

Monday Night Closing As A War Measure

Garfield Has Rescinded The Monday Closing Order. We're Going To Voluntarily Aid Uncle Sammy To Save Coal. Arrange Your Shopping To Meet War Conditions.

In order that we may aid the government in its coal conservation movement we have decided to close our stores on Monday Evenings at 6 o'clock until further notice.

This is in keeping with other win-the-war movements that are being inaugurated the country over and we know that our patrons and friends will aid us in the measure. By closing at 6 P. M. we save light and heat which in turn saves coal. Every ton of coal saved in the mining region means a ton of coal for some munition plant that may be handicapped for fuel.

We have been so lightly touched by this war; we have felt none of its rigors; our city has gone on in the even tenor of its way and thus we feel that in this movement every man, woman and child in Clearfield will co-operate with us and do your shopping in the daytime.

Y. O. OF A MEETING JINGLE
On February 14 we had a specially good meeting.
The officers came from far away and we gave them a hearty greeting.
They seemed pleased to be with us, and said they were glad they came.

The meeting was called to order at exactly 9 p. m.
With the officers at their stations, and only one of them present.
The Nationals were escorted in with all the honor due;
To us it looked very grand, to them
it was nothing new.

We went through with the business
then we settled down To the enjoyment of the evening with the folks from out of town.
First we had the speeches which did us all some good—
The State President came from Pottsville, where they make nutmegs
out of wood.

Then came our District Deputy, from DuBois who had been here before To install the officers; and while she had the floor,
She said it was the grandest sight
that ever she had seen,
To see the initiatory work displayed as it had never been.

Then we heard from Sister Clinton, as broad as she is long,
And she talked to us so nicely, then
she had a song.
In again from State President, which place has the right one,
to talk to us for a long time, as only Sister Bergman can;
We need more members like her to defend our flag and home!

Angers did their best, although they didn't pretend to be of re-own,
we were very proud for the
were from our own town.
Everything was harmonious, sociable
and kind, reached home at 2 a. m., but they
we did not mind.

as they only come once in a while,
and of all that we have seen,
We won't soon forget the meeting of 1918.
The meeting taught me one thing, we should visit other Camps and thrive
For the honor of Old Glory and the good of 25.

Heal Skin Diseases

It is unnecessary for you to suffer with eczema, blotches, ringworm, rashes and similar skin troubles. A little zemo, obtained at any drug store for 35c, or $1.00 for extra large bottle, and promptly applied will usually give instant relief from itching torture. It cleanses and soothes the skin and heals quickly and effectively most skin diseases.

Zemo is a wonderful, penetrating, disappearing liquid and is soothing to the most delicate skin. It is not greasy, is easily applied and costs little. Get it today and save all further distress.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Lesson 7.—First Quarter, February 17, 1918.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES

Lesson Text, Mark 4:1-8. 14:20—Memory Verse, Jas. 1:22—Golden Text, Gal. 6:7—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

We have seen how they counted Jesus as one beside himself, and doing his works in the power of the devil, and how they determined to kill him (Mark 3:6, 20, 21), or as it is written in Jno.
1:10, 11, "He was in the world, and the world was made by him, and the world knew him not: He came unto his own, and his own received him not."
According to the prediction of the prophet, "he is despised and rejected of men, a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief . . . cut off out of the land of the living." "The Messiah shall be cut off, and have nothing" (Isa. 53:8; Dan. 9:26 Margin). This being their treatment of him and his kingdom which was at hand but rejected, and therefore postponed till he shall come again. He began to teach in parables that they might not perceive and not understand (vs. 11, 12).
A parable has been called an earthly story with a heavenly meaning, hiding the truth from the indolent and unbelieving, but keeping it for the diligent who hunger for the truth. See in verses 10, 11 how he explained his parables to some of his disciples when they were alone with him, telling them that unto them it was given to know the mystery of the kingdom of God, but unto them that are without (having of their own accord shut themselves out by their unbelief), all these things are done in parables. Note that these parables concern the mystery of the kingdom of God, or as in Matt.
13:11, the kingdom of heaven, for the terms are often used synonymously and the origin of each is found in Dan.
2:44, where we read that the God of heaven shall set up a kingdom which shall break in pieces and consume all kingdoms, and it shall stand forever.

These parables do not concern that kingdom but the present age of the rejection of that kingdom which he calls the mystery of the kingdom of God or of heaven. A study of the word "mystery" will be a great help to all who desire to understand it.

The kingdom is one of the most clearly revealed things in the Bible, but that an age should intervene between the rejection of the kingdom and the return of the King to set it up is the mystery, explained in his parables and elsewhere in the New Testament.
His teaching by the seaside is very suggestive, for it is written in Matt.
13:1, "The same day went Jesus out of the house and sat by the seaside."
He sat in a boat and the multitude stood on the shore. His going out of the house makes us think of Matt.
23:28, 39, "Behold your house is left unto you desolate, for I say unto you, ye shall not see me henceforth, till ye shall say, Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord." That will be his return in glory to set up his kingdom. Now as to the parable of the sower and the seed recorded in Matthew, Mark and Luke, and explained by him privately, and concerning which he said, "Know ye not this parable, and how then will ye know all parables?" (vs. 13). Note a few things in his explanation. The seed is the word of God (Luke 8:11); the sower must be himself through his followers; the soil is the hearts of those who hear; and there is an enemy, the devil, who hates the seed and those who receive it. The seed on three kinds of soil seems to accomplish nothing, but on the fourth kind of soil there is a varying result described as thirty, sixty and an hundredfold.

The only seed is the word of God,
the incorruptible seed of the Word which liveth and abideth forever (I Pet. 1:23-25), concerning which he said, "The words that I speak unto you are spirit and are life," and concerning which he said to his Father, "I have given unto them the words which thou gavest me." "Sanctify them through thy truth, thy word is truth"
(Jno. 17:17). To sow aught else is labor in vain and has no promise of his blessing; but he has assured us that his word will accomplish his purpose, and that he will watch over it (Isa. 55:11; Jer. 1:12 B. V.). We cannot tell whether it shall fall on wasteland, or rocky, or thorny, or good soil, but since he cannot fail nor be discouraged (Isa. 42:3) we can safely leave all results to him, knowing that if we speak the Word of God in sincerity we are unto God a sweet savour of Christ whether the hearers are saved or perished (2 Cor. 2:15-17). It does seem sad indeed when hearts are so hard that the word finds no entrance, and the devil takes away the seed; or when a little affliction or persecution prevents any result; or when care, riches or pleasures choke the word; but results are with him and since he is not discouraged, we cannot be. Some seed will surely find a receptive heart and bear fruit to the glory of God. How anxious can find in this parable, or in the next one given by Matthew, the parable of the wheat and tares, any foundation for the thought of winning the world to Christ in this age during which he says that "the seed of the devil shall grow together with the seed of the Son of Man till the harvest, then shall the Son of Man send forth his angels to take out of his kingdom all that offend, and those which do iniquity, and shall cast them into a furnace of fire, where the worm shall be tormented, and they shall be afflicted, day and night, forever and ever." (Matt. 13:41-42)

$450,000 PENELEC COAL COMPANY GOLD BONDS

DESCRIPTION:
Six per cent first mortgage (closed) sinking fund Gold Bonds.
Denomination, $1,000, in coupon form. Dated March 1, 1918, maturing March 1, 1924. Interest payable semi-annually, March 1 and September 1. Girard Trust Company, Philadelphia, Pa., Trustee.
Free of the normal Income Tax up to 4 per cent.
TAX FREE IN PENNSYLVANIA

BUSINESS:
The Penelec Coal Company supplies all the requirements for coal under a ten year contract with the following public utility companies:
Citizens' Light, Heat & Power Co., Johnstown, Pa.
The Penn Public Service Co., Clearfield and Philipsburg, Pa.
Benn Electric Service Co., Rockwood, Somerset County, Pa.
TERRITORY SERVED:
The cities of Johnstown, Clearfield, Philipsburg and Blairsville are supplied with electric light and power. Moreover practically all the territory in the counties of Clearfield, Centre, Cambria and Somersets are served.
The mines of the Company are located near the power plants of the various utility companies who do not have to depend upon railroad facilities for delivery of coal to their plants. There is a large local domestic demand for coal which the mines have been supplying for some time past.
It is indicated that all these bonds will be retired under the terms of the sinking fund at 102 1/2 and interest.
Price 97 1/2 and interest, Yielding 6 1/2 per cent.
Descriptive circular upon request. Order may be wired at our expense.

Why not specify ALABASTINE

That's what your well-informed architect, builder or contractor will do for your health and happiness' sake. Sanitation in the walls of homes and all public buildings is as essential as in hospitals.
ALABASTINE's superb and marble-like surface is supremely stylish and displays rugs, furniture and pictures to the best advantage.
Easily prepared and applied, ALABASTINE can be used on any interior wall surface, wallboard, plaster and the like.
Mix in one minute with cold water.
A touch of the only tool need a supply.
